

Silicon Laboratories Closes Sale of Aero(R) Product Lines to NXP

March 23, 2007 12:00 PM EDT

AUSTIN, Texas--(BUSINESS WIRE)--March 23, 2007--Silicon Laboratories Inc. (Nasdaq:SLAB), a leader in high-performance, analog-intensive, mixed-signal integrated circuits (ICs), today announced it finalized the sale of the Aero product lines to NXP, formerly Philips Semiconductor.

"With the close of this transaction, our focus will be on mixed-signal product lines where the expected return on investment is aligned with our business model targets," stated Necip Sayiner, president and chief executive officer of Silicon Laboratories.

Announced in February 2007, NXP purchased the Aero product lines, including the Aero transceiver, AeroFONE™ single-chip phone and power amplifier, for $285 million in cash. There is an additional earn-out potential of up to an aggregate of $65 million over the next three years based on the broad acceptance of AeroFONE technology.
